RICHMOND CAN SECURE INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

Franchise Ready if Release From Virginia League Can Bo Obtained.

SHIFT LOCALS TO LYNCHBURG

Money Ready to Finance Deal, but Directors of State Organization Balk at Idea of Losing Real Productive Baseball Centre.

BY GUS MALBERT.

There stands between Richmond and a franchise in the International League Professional Baseball Clubs-the Virginia League.

The impression has gone forth from many sources that the International League frowned upon Richmond; that Richmond was not a city of great enough population to warrant an In-the Virginia League bars the passage way.

Perhaps the Virginia League harbored the hope that Richmond was dependent upon the Virginia League in order that its baseball appetite might be appeased. Perhaps the Virginia League knew that it was secure in its position when it openly and positively asserted that Richmond would have Virginia League baseball or no baseball. At any rate the Virginia League for the draft price, baseball, and, so far balking the move to give Richmond better baseball, and, so far balking the move successfully.

The best information obtainable is that Newport News and Portsmouth would be willing to let Richmond go on its way to better baseball, provided the arrangements calling for the release of Richmond were satisfactory as regards compensation for the loss of the city to the circuit. Just what attitude Petersburg would assume at a called meeting of the league is not known, but H. C. Elliott, owner of the Norfolk franchise and controlling the Roanoke franchise, in conference with a representative of the Richinoud people interested, stated emphatically that he would never agree to any such proposition under any circumstances. Thus Petersburg is placed in the postition of casting the deciding vote, holding the balance of power, as it were, city to the circuit. Just what

Mr. Elliott, who holds two votes by virtue of his connection with Norfolk and Roanoke, when importuned yesterday by the Richmond representative, did not minee matters. He was positive in his reply, nor did he give much encouragement to the hope that he might be changed from the position he now occupies. It is obvious that if Richmond leaves the league the value of Norfolk as a piece of baseball property will be considerably lessened. Every arrangement has been made to transfer either the Baltimore or the Jersey City franchise of the Inter-Jersey City franchise of the Inter-national League to Richmond. Con-ferences have been held with the men controlling the franchises in these Nothing has been forgotten by the men who have been engineering the deal. Even the possibility that there might be objection raised by the Totals National Commission to leaving Baltiof this was thoroughly discussed by the men who have been working out the plans, and in order that there might be no hitch, another franchise in the international was secured. The idea was always that Baltimore would be preferable, but that an international League franchise from whatever city designated by the league would be satisfactory.

The money to finance the new enterprise is at band, the franchise is ready to be transferred, the people in Richmond are ready to welcome the new enterprise, the men who are prepared to furnish the money are ready to pay the Prise demanded by the clubs of the Virginia League for the release of Richmond, provided that price is fair; there is a city ready and anxious to fill the breach caused by the transfer of Richmond to the new organization, the owners of the local franchise in the Virginia League will co-operate with the men who are putting up the in the Virginia League will co-operate with the men who are putting up the money to purchase the International League franchise, two cities in the Virginia League are ready, it appears, to grant Richmond a release, two are opposed unalterably, while one is in doubt. And there the matter stands at present.

An enportunity is presented.

At present.

An opportunity is presented the Virginia League to get rid of Richmond; the many irksome and undestrable difficulties to please Richmond that have cropped up at meetings innumerable can all be eliminated. Richmond can get the kind of baseball the fans of Richmond have been clamoring for, but, in spite of the fact that Richmond gets for more out of the league than Richmond puts in, Richmond may not

Dunn Makes Final Statement

Haltimore, June 18.—Before leaving to-night for New York to attend the meeting to-morrow of the National Baseball Commission, Manager Dinn, of the Bultimore International Lengue club, made the following statement:

"If the National Commission decides to waive the draft and class the International with the major leagues, I shall stay here a while longer and endeavor to ascertain the sentiments of baseball lovers of the city. If they support us we will stay here: If not, I shall exercise my judgment about transferring the franchise.

"Should the National Commission refuse to place us in the major league class by removing the draft, something may happen sooner. I shall not wait longer than Sunday before making up my mind."

attitude Petersburg would assume at a called meeting of the league is not known, but H. C. Elliott, owner of the Norfolk franchise and controlling the Roanoke franchise, in conference with a representative of the Richmond people interested, stated emphatically that he would never agree to any such proposition under any circumstances. Thus Petersburg is placed in the position of casting the deciding vote, holding the balance of power, as it were, assuming that the alignment is as forecast above.

President J. O. Beatwright, of the Virginia League, will be here to-day to get Manager Ryan's version of his dispute with Manager Mathews, of Newport News, relative to the alleged unfair removal of second base on the Newport News, relative to the alleged unfair removal of second base on the Newport News, playing field, and it is understood that while here he will also take up the question of transferring Richmond to the territory of the International League, in order that he may make an intelligent report to the directors.

Mr. Elliott, who holds two votes by National Commission to leaving Baltimore has been anticipated, because it was known that should Baltimore be evacuated in the face of opposition from the Federal League, it would have a tremendous effect in boosting the cause of the Fede.

It was realized in advance that leaving Baltimore would be a practical admission that the Federal League had won a decisive victory in at least one stronghold of organized baseballs. All of this was thoroughly discussed by the men who have been working out the designated by the league would be satisfactory.

Al Reich Defeats Fritts.

New York, June 18. Al Reich knocked out Sailor Fred Fritts in the second minute of the tenth round at the Stadium A. C. to-night. The first second minute of the tenth round at the Stadium A. C. to-night. The first knockodwn of the fight occurred at the start of the last session, Reich dropping Fritts with a right for the count of nine. The latter scrambled to his feet, with both eyes almost closed and a deep gash over his right optic. Reich ripped in three right upper-cuts in close quarters, the last punch feiling the game sailor to the canvas, where he lay helpless, the referee stopping the contest.

It has been maintained by the friends of the equitable schedule that under the old regime, when Richmond sot all of the week-end games, only Richmond benefited and at the expense of the other five cities. It has been offered that the league is in better shape under the nw schedule arrangement than in previous years.

Lynchburg is a corking good haseball town, has been without baseball for a number of years, is willing and anxious to receive the Richmond Club in the Virginia League and to continue playing the schedule as arranged. There would be no interruption in Virginia League affairs by Richmond steeping out, and yet a majority vote for the release of Richmond seems impossible.

Thus Richmond, confessedly the thorn in the side of the Virginia League for many seasons, is kept within the league when the opportunity is offered for Richmond deserves through importance as a city, though ability to take care of a club in the International League and through the fact that Richmond will then be associated with cities of relative size.

James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal Baseball League, came to the defense of that league and baseball players in general to-day in resonance to the statement of B. B. Johnson, head of the American League, that money greed may become the curse of baseball.

"The public realizes," said Gilmore, "that for more than twenty years 'organized baseball' has held its players in a state of peonage, while the club owners have amassed large fortunes. Naturally they resent competition, and it hurts them to be obliged to give some of the men who cara the money a part of the large profits."

Mr. Gilmore pointed to the case of Mordecai Brown as an example of what he termed the iniquity of reserve clause contracts.

BRAVES LOSE TO CARDINALS

Boston, June 18.—In a game that wound up with tremendous excitement, the St. Louis Cardinals heat the Braves, 6 to 5, this afternoon. Boston had the bases full, with only one out, in the ninth, but Deal struck out and Mann popped weakly to Miller, while the fans yelled madly confident of Boston's victory. The game was full of kicks and delays, and lasted two hours and thirty-seven minutes. Crutcher, who replaced Perdue, pitched tine ball until the ninth, when the St. Louis team got his goat. Score:

RAPID PROGRESS MADE IN GOOD ROAD BUILDING

Lawrenceville, Va., June 18 .- Rapid progress has been made in road building in Brunswick County in the last year. It is only a little more than twelve months since two districts in the county voted bond issues, one of $50,000, the other of $34,000, and started working convict forces under a resident engineer of the State Highstirted working convict forces under a resident engineer of the State High-way Commission. Fifty-three miles of road, of excellent gravel and well graded, have been built in that time. Twenty-five miles had been built provious to the bond issue, making seventy-eight miles of improved roads in the county now. Two more districts have recently voted bond issues, one of $76.000 and one of $55,000, so that more than 200 miles of good roads are already provided for.

The writer recently drove from Front Royal, Va. to Lawrenceville, and the best roads for pleasure driving that he saw were in Brunswick. The macendam roads in the Piedmont counties will stand heavy hauling with less repair, but they make more vibration in light vehicles. The gravel roads in Brunswick are being kept in good repair at small cost to 'hs county.
